

For immediate release

19 September 2005

Sphere Medical Holding Limited
("Sphere Medical" or "the Company")

Sphere Medical Wins Frost & Sullivan's 2005 Technology Innovation Award in the Field of Point-of-Care Technologies

Sphere Medical Holding Limited, the developer of next generation critical care monitoring systems, is pleased to announce that the Company has been awarded the Frost & Sullivan 2005 Technology Innovation Award in the field of Point-of-Care (PoC) Technologies. This award has been granted in recognition of Sphere Medical's design and development of an innovative microanalyser system that could profoundly impact the PoC sector. Frost & Sullivan's Technology Innovation Award is bestowed upon a company that has carried out new research which has resulted in innovation that has, or is, expected to bring significant contributions to the industry in terms of adoption, change, and competitive posture. This award recognises the quality and depth of a company's research and development program as well as the vision and risk-taking that enabled it to undertake such an endeavour.

Dr. Stuart Hendry, CEO of Sphere Medical, said: "It is very pleasing to see that a leading independent industry commentator such as Frost and Sullivan has recognised the potential of Sphere Medical's products amongst significant competition."

For more information please contact:

Dr. Stuart Hendry, Chief Executive Officer
www.spheremedical.com

+44 (0)1223 875222

Tim Anderson, Mary-Jane Johnson
Buchanan Communications

+44 (0)20 7466 5000

Notes for editors:

Sphere Medical Limited is developing highly innovative monitoring products to provide clinical and economic benefits in the critical care environment, based on the company's proprietary technology. The products allow minimally invasive, real time measurement of clinical chemistry parameters and therapeutic drug concentrations, giving healthcare professionals the information they require to more effectively manage therapy and optimise patient outcomes. Sphere Medical is a private company, founded in 2002 and based in Cambridge, UK. For further information please see www.spheremedical.com